

Weekend Guide: Free Pancakes, Muscle Cars & Theater at Sutro Baths

Schuyler Bailey

It's the freakin weekend, baby.

GO

Ondine at Sutro Baths

What: We Players—the thespians that brought us Hamlet on Alcatraz, The Odyssey on Angel Island, and Macbeth at Fort Point—unveil their latest site-integrated production of French classic Ondine at the iconic Sutro Baths.

Why: The Pacific ocean makes its theatrical debut!

When: Every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, starting May 1 to June 7.

Where: Sutro Baths, 680 Point Lobos Ave. Tickets here.

CRUISE

Car-topia in Jack London Square

What: Dozens of classic, exotic, old school, new school and muscle cars and trucks head to the Oakland waterfront for an auto extravaganza complete with a DJ and awards.

Why: There's something on four wheels for everyone, from car buffs to casual enthusiasts.

When: 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Saturday, May 2.

Where: Jack London Square, Broadway and Embarcadero, Oakland

BROWSE

Parking Lot Art Fair

What: The Thing Quarterly is popping up between this weekend's two art fairs—stARTup and Art Market at Fort Mason—for a tailgate cum literary trunk show complete with fresh pancakes and Ritual Coffee.

Why: Did you read the part about the pancakes?

When: 8 a.m.-1 p.m., Saturday, May 2.

Where: Exact location to be announced at midnight on May 1.

SHOP

Artwear at the de Young

What: Local artisans—Petel textiles, Alice Roche jewelry, and more—bring one-of-a-kind pieces to browse and buy.

Why: You're over wearing the same statement necklace as your coworker.

When: 9:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m., Friday, May 1; 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Saturday, May 2.

Where: de Young in Golden Gate Park; 50 Hagiwara Tea Garden Dr.